The title of the exhibition is borrowed from Edith Piaf's famous chanson which deals with the ambivalence of idealized love. Stefanie Holler's charcoal drawings and videos are to be understood as observational metaphors. Through her work she makes the theatrics of conflict visible, in which one finds him or herself caught as a puppet of a self-prescribed way of life. Holler's drawings shine with mesmerizing allure and lead into a world in which strange things (can) happen.
